

REPTILES and AMPHIBIANS

SPECIES	Abnd	HABITAT	COMMENTS
Frogs
Bullfrog	A	Refuge springs and outflows	Were introduced in 1950's for commercial purposes.
Nothern Leopard Frog	C	Most refuge wetlands I	Introduced species, increasing in last few years.
Lizards
Collard Lizard	U	Rocky boulder areas	Often run on hind legs like a "little dinosaur."
Leopard Lizard	U	Rocky boulder areas	This species predatory on other lizards.
Desert Horned Lizard	U	Sandy areas and washes
Great Basin Sagebrush	C	Desert shrubs
Western Fence Lizard	C	Rocky outcrop
Desert Side-blotched Lizard	C	Most non-wetland habitats
Great Basin Whiptail Lizzard	C	Most non-wetland habitats
Snakes
Striped Whipsnake	U	Most non-wetland habitat	This species hunts with head held high to see rodents and lizards
Wandering Garter Snake	C	Marsh areas	Frequently takes to water when disturbed
Great Basin Rattlesnake	C	All non-wetland habitats
Great Basin Gopher	A	All habitats	Can exceed six feet in length!
Long-nosed Snake	Ac	Desert shrub	Extreme northern edge of range for this species in Utah
FISH
Utah Chub	C	All wetland areas with	This fish is found in most bodies of water that were once part of the prehistoic Lake Bonneville.
Least Chub	U	Selected Refuge springs	This candidate for the Endangered species list can readily be seen at the picnic area.
Speckled Dace	U	Selected Refuge springs
Mosquito Fish	A	All Refuge waters	This introduced fish has caused significant decline of Least Chub wherever they are found together
Turtles
Western red-eared	U	Springs	First documented in 1999. Introduced